

Learning from Safeguarding Adult Reviews: Self Neglect

NHS England North West Region Safeguarding team will be hosting a series of learning events on Learning from Safeguarding Adult Reviews: Self Neglect

Delivered by Professor Michael Preston Shoot

Via Microsoft Teams

This session will draw on evidence from Michael’s research (with David Orr and Suzy Braye OBE) into effective practice in self-neglect. It will consider:

- the range and scope of self-neglect work nationally
- the challenges experienced in practice
- what goes wrong – findings from safeguarding adult reviews in cases of self-neglect
- what goes right - service users’ and practitioners’ perspectives on approaches that support positive outcomes
- effective interagency working in self-neglect

Please Note:

- Open to NHS practitioners and multi-agency partners working within the North West Region
- The team are unable to book places on your behalf, if you experience problems try using a different browser i.e. Microsoft Edge/Google Chrome or contact your IT department for support
- Please place a hold in your diary following registration, links will be sent a minimum of two working days prior to the event (you may need to check your junk mail)
- The sessions have the same content therefore you only need to book one
- The presentation will not be recorded but slides will be shared with attendees afterwards
- For any questions please contact england.safeguarding-events@nhs.net

Full day sessions 9:30 – 16:30 (with comfort breaks)
